French fries Production Line

French fries is a traditional fast food in western countries with several dozens years processing history. French fries is savory and crisp, taste good and delicious as well as with rich nutrition, so it is the people's favorite food all over the world. In Europe, frozen potato products take 17.8% of the total frozen foods, while French fries are the majority. In 1996, the first French fried production line was established by our company, and French fries have been widely sold in the market. The quality of our French fries have satisfied the international advanced standard. We can offer series of equipment, which may transform the potatoes to the snack food.
